2012 CMHC Annual Report	Three words — Passion Professionalism Performance — summarize CMHC's 66-year history as Canada's national housing agency. Since it first opened its doors, CMHC has responded to the ever-changing housing needs of Canadians with passion and professionalism. We can be proud that Canada has a solid housing system owing to both strong public oversight and an efficient market that is able to fulfill a range of housing needs. In 2012, CMHC continued to strengthen Canada's financial and housing systems by: - providing federal investments in housing programs for low-income Canadians and for First Nation communities; - facilitating access to homeownership and rental housing, including nursing and retirement homes, throughout Canada through mortgage loan insurance; - ensuring a reliable supply of funds for mortgage lending and opportunities for investors to invest in high quality, secure investments through CMHC's securitization guarantee programs; - administering a new legal framework for Canadian covered bonds which will further help diversify sources of funds for lenders; - being a trusted source of housing information and market analysis; and - carrying out its business in a manner that maximizes social and economic contributions and minimizes environmental impacts. | 2011 CMHC Annual Report | As CMHC marks its 65th anniversary, we take pride in knowing that we have helped build A Solid Foundation for Generations of Canadians – from helping to house World War II veterans to delivering a range of programs that enhanced the ability of Canadians to access affordable, high quality housing over the past six decades. In 2011, CMHC continued to strengthen the housing system by:

- providing federal investments in housing programs for lower-income Canadians and for First Nation communities;

- facilitating access to homeownership and rental housing through mortgage loan insurance products that help finance housing throughout Canada;

- reducing mortgage costs for Canadian homebuyers by ensuring a reliable supply of low-cost mortgage funds to financial institutions, enhancing the competitiveness of the mortgage market and providing investors with opportunities to invest in high quality secure investments through the securitization guarantee programs;

- being a trusted source of housing information and market analysis. | Requires iOS 4.0 or later. Compatible with iPad.

quizzes with a possibility for augmented reality features.

NOTES:
1. The Explora programme consists of several separate apps that provide on-site interpretive content for visitors. Costs are managed centrally for all apps, therefore a single total cost is provided, which covers all Explora apps from the pilot in 2008 to 2016.

2. Explora apps can be downloaded by visitors onto their own devices, or in many locations, visitors can borrow a device with the app pre-loaded. Many Explora apps factored in the cost were also available on custom local devices from 2008-2012. As a result, download statistics do not reflect all use of these apps.
