

To the Mayor of Toronto and Toronto City Council:

Many Ontarians rely on their cars to get to work every day, and have paid their taxes for years to build the existing roads. Now John Tory wants to force commuters to pay twice for that infrastructure that has already been built by creating toll lanes in Toronto. Traffic congestion is already a problem in Ontario, and tolls will make them even worse, and add to the already high cost of the city.

We the undersigned, call on the Mayor of Toronto and Toronto City Council to stop any plans to create toll lanes in the City of Toronto.
